

Mary E. Becker, Professor of Law at the University of Chicago School of Law, received her J.D. cum laude from that institution in 1980. She served as a law clerk for the Honorable Abner J. Mikva of the United States Court of Appeals for the district of Columbia and the Honorable Lewis F. Powell, Jr. of the United States Supreme Court. Professor Becker has taught at the University of Chicago Law School since 1982. She has written and lectured extensively on numerous topics, including custody rights, barriers to the political system faced by women, current discrimination remedies, the Bill of Rights, and university speech codes. Professor Becker is one of three authors of a recent textbook on Feminist Jurisprudence. Active in the legal community, she is an outstanding advocate for women.

Reception in Auditorium Foyer

WLSA is actively involved in the Law School Community. We are one of the largest student organizations at the University of Georgia School of Law as well as one of the largest WLSA organizations nationally. Our mission is to strengthen women by providing educational, professional and social events to benefit all students with a focus on women in law. Fall 1995 activities included a Pre-Orientation welcome party for the incoming first-year students, mentoring entering women, the annual Wine and Cheese Reception, a Supreme Court Forum and a Battered Women Clothing Drive. The high point of the Fall Semester is the Edith House Lecture.

Without all the wonderful support from faculty, staff, WLSA members, past contributors and friends, the Edith House Lecture Series could not be possible. Special thanks are offered to the contributors to the Edith House Fund; because of you, Edith House continues to influence both men and women in the pursuit of legal excellence. Recognition and thanks go to University of Georgia School of Law administrative associates, Tammy Mettenberger, Phyllis Cooke and Valerie Sikes. Added support and patience have been given by Jill Birch, Director of Alumni Programs; Kathy Pharr, Director of Communications and Public Relations; Professor Sarajane Love, WLSA's faculty advisor; and Richard Yancey, Director of the Law School Fund. Many thanks to Elizabeth Schuchs, who organized the lecture facilities and reception, and to Judy McLeod, who coordinated the dinner. The effort of all the WLSA members who volunteered their time to help with the lecture is greatly appreciated. It could not have been done without you.
