SCHOOL of LAW

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA
Chief Justice Jean Hoefer Toal received her J.D. in 1968 from the University of South Carolina Law School where she served as Managing Editor, Leading Articles Editor, and Book Review Editor of the South Carolina Law Review. Chief Justice Toal practiced law for 20 years prior to her election to the South Carolina Supreme Court. She began her service as an Associate Justice on the Supreme Court of South Carolina on March 17, 1988. She was re-elected in February of 1996 and was installed as Chief Justice on March 23, 2000 for the balance of the term of her predecessor, which expired June 30, 2004. She was again re-elected in February of 2004 and was installed as Chief Justice on June 9, 2004, for a ten-year term. She is the first and only woman to serve as a Justice of the South Carolina Supreme Court.
The Edith House
Lecture Series in the Law

"Women in the Law"

Presented by

Chief Justice Jean Toal
Supreme Court of South Carolina

Thursday, March 24, 2005
3:30 p.m.
Hatton Lovejoy Courtroom, School of Law

Welcome........................................... Amy Godfrey
WLSA Vice-President

Introductory Remarks............................Mandi Ballard
WLSA President

Introduction of Lecturer...........................David Shipley
Thomas R.R. Cobb Professor of Law

Lecture.............................................Chief Justice Jean Toal
South Carolina Supreme Court

Questions and Answers............................Chief Justice Jean Toal

Conclusion........................................ Amy Godfrey

Reception to follow in the Rotunda
Hirsch Hall, University of Georgia School of Law
Women Law Students Association –
University of Georgia, School of Law

As one of the largest law student organizations, the Women Law Students Association provides educational, professional, and social events that benefit all students, with a focus on women in law. Past activities include panels such as “Women in the Legal Profession: A View from the Bench,” co-sponsored with the Black Law Students Association, lectures such as “Making it to the Top: What Every Woman (and Man) Should Know about the Business of Law Firms,” presented by Lind Klein, former President of the Georgia Bar Association, and the annual faculty-student wine and cheese social. The highlight of WLSA’s yearly schedule is the Edith House Lecture.

Acknowledgements:

The Women Law Students Association would like to thank David Shipley, the Thomas R.R. Cobb Professor of Law; Sarajane Love, the Verner F. Chaffin Professor of Fiduciary Law and WLSA’s faculty sponsor; Heidi Murphy, Director of Public Relations; and the entire faculty of the law school for their continued support of this lecture series. WLSA would also like to especially thank Robin Jennings for her tireless efforts in helping to ensure the success of this program.

This series is made possible through the generous contributions of the alumni, faculty, students, and friends of the Edith House endowment fund for the Edith House Lecture Series in Law. The Women Law Students Association and the law school community appreciate your interest and support of this lecture series and its endowment fund.
Previous Edith House Lectures:

Martha S. West, Professor of Law, University of California, Davis, “What’s In It For Me: Why Don’t White Women Support Affirmative Action?” October 24, 1996.

Mary E. Becker, Professor of Law, University of Chicago, “The First Amendment and Sexual Harassment in School and Work.” November 2, 1995.

Chief Judge Dorothy Toth Beasley, Georgia Court of Appeals, “Why are We Here?” January 25, 1995.

Carrie Menkel-Meadow, Professor of Law, University of California, Los Angeles, “Mainstreaming Feminist Legal Theory and the Production of Legal Knowledge.” March 12, 1993.
Patricia J. Williams, Associate Professor of Law, University of Wisconsin, “Banished Bodies.” March 13, 1992.

Mari J. Matsuda, Associate Professor of Law, University of Hawaii, “Toward a Feminist Theory Interconnecting Subordinations.” April 8, 1991.

Patricia A. Cain, Professor of Law, University of Texas, “A Postmodern Feminist Critique of Equal Protection Doctrine.” March 15, 1990.

R. Lea Brilmayer, Nathan Baker Professor of Law, Yale University, “International Affairs and the Implausibility of Democracy.” April 6, 1998.

Elaine Vogel-Polsky, Professor of Law, University Libre de Bruxelles, “Positive Action Within the European Economic Community.” September 25, 1985.

Edith House, a native of Winder, Georgia, was co-valedictorian of the Class of 1925, and one of the first two women to graduate from the University of Georgia School of Law. Following graduation, Ms. House practiced law for four years in Clearwater, Florida. She was appointed as an Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida, and held that post for the next thirty years. When the Southern District was subdivided to create the new Middle District, Ms. House was appointed to the post of United States Attorney for the new Southern District. Ms. House retired in 1963. She lived in Jacksonville, Florida until her death in 1987. It is in her honor that this lecture series is dedicated.