EDITOR'S PAGE

This issue marks the end of the first volume of the Georgia Law Review. Although this first year has been beset with delays and organizational difficulties we feel that, for the staff, the first volume has been a success. Law review experience has greatly expanded the breadth of our formal legal education, and it is our hope that our efforts have been and will continue to be useful to law students and the practicing bar.

The Editors of the Georgia Law Review have decided to create a Georgia Editor for the second volume whose job will entail supervision of the casenotes published in the student section of the Georgia State Bar Journal. The purpose of such supervision is to provide an opportunity for law review writing to those students who are not on the regular law review editorial board. This additional task should not be an overly burdensome one as the law review staff expands, and it should be a useful service to the state bar.

Finally, it would be appropriate on this page to name our successor staff, who, we are confident, will be able to improve that which we were fortunately able to begin. They are: Editor-in-Chief, Howard E. Turner; Executive Editor, H. Boyce Connell, Jr.; Articles Editor, Wayne T. Elliott; Notes Editor, Robert F. Mabon, Jr.; Decisions Editor, John M. Tatum; Research Editor, Lowell S. Fine; Georgia Editor, Dale M. Schwartz.
