

Homecoming WEEKEND 2006

The 16th Annual Homecoming BBQ was a huge success with more than 1,350 registrants (a record). Alumni and friends enjoyed good food, live music and the chance to catch up with old classmates and meet new friends. However, the outpouring of alumni support was not able to save the Bulldogs from a 24-22 loss to Vanderbilt University. Photos of the event follow.

Taking a moment from their conversation ▶ are (l. to r.) Associate Professor Lonnie Brown, John Coalson (J.D.'77) and his daughter Jennifer Coalson, a second-year Georgia Law student.

◀ Enjoying the event are: (l. to r.) Frank Butler (J.D.'75) and his son Logan, Steve Melton (J.D.'75) and his son Blake (J.D.'04), and Jensen Mast (J.D.'05).

▲ Al Wall (J.D.'50) and his wife Marguerite watch the crowd from their seats on the lawn.

◀ Uga VI joined the law school tailgate for photos before the game. Pictured here with the beloved mascot are Carter and Caroline Snipes, children of Laura and Dan Snipes (J.D.'95). Georgia Law appreciates alumnus Sonny Seiler (J.D.'57) bringing Uga VI to visit.

Reunions

Mack, who played the trumpet for the Redcoat Band as an undergraduate, also participated in the alumni band performance in Sanford Stadium after attending the law school barbecue.

◀ It wouldn't be the annual Homecoming BBQ without live music from the alumni band "Strung Jury - Legends in Their Spare Time," which made its 16th appearance at the event. Here, children dance in front of the band's stage. The regular members of Strung Jury are Dennis Helmreich (J.D.'86), Timothy Herring (J.D.'85) and Gregory Gronholm (J.D.'85). This year, alumnus Jack Hood (J.D.'71) also played with the group.

The Class of 1976 convened in the law school's Rotunda following the Homecoming football game.
