

Thomas J Striepe

From: ALR Editor in Chief <alr.eic@wcl.american.edu>
Sent: Saturday, August 02, 2014 4:24 PM
To: Thomas J Striepe
Subject: Re: Copyright Permisson

Dear TJ,

Yes, you are free to upload the article into your Institutional Repository.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions.

Wenxi

On Thu, Jul 24, 2014 at 5:46 AM, ALR Editor in Chief <alr.eic@wcl.american.edu> wrote:
Dear TJ,

Thank you for your request. My colleague at the American Bar Association will be out of the office until August 4. I expect to get you an answer after that date.

Best,

Wenxi

On Tue, Jul 22, 2014 at 11:36 AM, Thomas J Striepe <tstriepe@uga.edu> wrote:

Good Morning:

I am the faculty services librarian at the University of Georgia School of Law and I am requesting permission to upload the following article written by a UGA faculty member into our Institutional Repository known as digital commons. <http://digitalcommons.law.uga.edu/> Please let me know if this is acceptable. Thanks for your assistance.

Joseph S. Miller, Substance, Procedure, and the Divided Patent Power, 63 Admin. L. Rev. 31 (2011).

TJ

TJ Striepe, J.D., M.L.I.S.

Faculty Services Librarian

Alexander Campbell King Law Library

University of Georgia School of Law

Athens, Georgia 30602

\(706\) 542-5077542-5077)

--

Wenxi Li

Editor in Chief

Administrative Law Review (ALR)

American University Washington College of Law

4801 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Suite 625

Washington, DC 20016

alr.eic@wcl.american.edu

office 202.274.4481 | mobile 978.760.0467

--

Wenxi Li

Editor in Chief

Administrative Law Review (ALR)

American University Washington College of Law

4801 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Suite 625

Washington, DC 20016

alr.eic@wcl.american.edu

office 202.274.4481 | mobile 978.760.0467