I am pleased to have the opportunity to address the University of Georgia School of Law’s wonderful alumni and friends from this page. It is a privilege to serve this year as president of the Law School Association. The first thing I would like to do is thank you for your continued generous support of Georgia Law. Your support is vital to the continued success of the law school.

The purpose of this annual donor report is to recognize the financial contributions of our many alumni and friends, as well as to show what happens to the money you give. The law school raises funds annually through two major programs: the Annual Fund, which is for everyday operations, and Special Gifts, which are used primarily to fund academic chairs, endowed professorships and memorial scholarships in addition to specific facility needs. During the last fiscal year, we were especially fortunate in both campaigns, receiving a significant number of gifts through the Annual Fund and special gift commitments endowing two faculty enhancement funds, one scholarship and two student awards. These gifts culminated in the dedication of the Carl E. Sanders Reading Room in the renovated law library in October of this year.

The law school uses alumni donations to fund many needs, including full and partial scholarships to recruit the best and brightest students; student activities such as family day and graduation, student conference travel, and moot court and mock trial programs; the student services offices, including legal career services and admissions; and faculty research support, among others. Almost $600,000 must be raised annually to meet these needs.

The law school’s need for your gifts, however, is now greater than ever. As you would expect, a significant portion of the law school’s budget is composed of public funds and appropriations. The budget cuts of the last three years have impacted not only the university but the law school as well. Additional budget cuts are anticipated for next year.

Private gifts support a smaller portion of the school’s budget but are being called upon to do more and more in this challenging economic environment. In addition to helping to meet the law school’s immediate and long-term financial needs, the gifts of alumni are very important in another way: alumni financial support is a factor that is considered in the school’s ranking by U.S. News & World Report and others.

The most important thing to remember is that you can help! To those who have contributed to the Law School Fund over the years, thank you for your past generosity and for your continued efforts on behalf of the law school. To those who have not contributed, or have not contributed recently, I invite you to join me and other fellow alumni in giving back to the school that has contributed so greatly to our success. A gift of any amount is greatly appreciated and goes directly to the support of this great institution, its faculty and students. Donors at the Joseph Henry Lumpkin Society level ($1,000 or more) will receive special recognition.

Also, please join us at the Law School Association functions that will be held once again in conjunction with the State Bar of Georgia Midyear Meeting in Atlanta. The alumni cocktail party will be held Thursday evening, January 15, 2004, at the offices of Alston & Bird LLP. The alumni breakfast will be held Friday morning, January 16, at the Sheraton Colony Square. I look forward to seeing you there.

If you have any questions about what is going on at the law school or have any comments or suggestions, please feel free to call me at any time. I will be glad to hear from you.

Sincerely,

Julia Willcox Lumpkin
J.D.’90
Law School Association President

Is Your Name Missing?

Listed in this 2002–2003 Annual Donor Report are gifts to the University of Georgia School of Law, which were processed through the University of Georgia Foundation between July 1, 2002, and June 30, 2003. If your name is not included and you think it should be or if it is included but not at the level you believe to be appropriate, there may be several reasons why:

• You made your gift either before July 1, 2002, or after June 30, 2003.

• You gave more during this period than you realize. Please check the next giving level for your name.

• You made a pledge instead of an outright gift. This listing includes only gifts received. If you made a pledge during this period but elected not to begin paying it until after June 30, 2003, your name will not be listed.

• You made a gift to the University of Georgia or the University of Georgia Foundation but your transaction was not designated for the law school.

• We omitted your name in error. If we have made a mistake, we would like to hear from you.

The School of Law is pleased to honor its annual contributors of $1,000 or more with membership in the Joseph Henry Lumpkin Society and greatly appreciates the commitment of these individuals to the continuous advancement of the quality of the law school. Lumpkin Society membership reached a new high in 2002-03 with 220 generous alumni and friends of the School of Law making gifts of $1,000 or more. In addition, we received gifts of $1,000 or higher from 19 private foundations and corporations.

Joseph Henry Lumpkin founded the University of Georgia School of Law in 1859, in collaboration with his son-in-law, Thomas R.R. Cobb, and colleague, William Hope Hull. Classes were first taught in Lumpkin’s law office at the corner of Prince Avenue and Pulaski Street in downtown Athens at what was then the Lumpkin Law School.

Lumpkin, born in Oglethorpe County in 1799, was a distinguished lawyer and statesman and a major figure in Georgia public affairs. He graduated from Princeton in 1819, then “read law” under the tutelage of a practicing attorney, as was the custom of the day. Lumpkin was admitted to the Georgia bar in 1820. In 1824, he was elected to a two-year term in the Georgia legislature and, in 1833, helped frame the state penal code. In 1845, Lumpkin became the first chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, where he served continuously until his death in 1867.

You can join the Lumpkin Society and help sustain excellence at your legal alma mater. Please make your gift of $1,000 or more to the School of Law by June 30, 2004, and encourage your classmates and colleagues to follow your lead so that Lumpkin Society membership can continue to reach new heights again this financial year.

For the 2003–04 academic year, the majority of your contribution (71%) directly benefits law school students, particularly in the area of scholarship assistance. Each year, Georgia Law relies on annual contributions from its alumni and friends to provide essential operating dollars. Approximately $577,000 is needed for the 2004–05 academic year. We are currently trying to raise this amount and request your assistance.

A Message to Alumni and Friends from Interim Dean Rebecca Hanner White

All of us at the law school appreciate so much the support we receive from our alumni and friends. Private contributions enable us to continue our commitment to excellence in legal education. As you review the listing of donors contained in this honor roll, the number of alumni and friends who have stepped forward to help the law school through these current challenging times is gratifying.

Opportunities for the law school to further enhance its reputation for academic excellence are still available to us. Budget reductions over the last few years have challenged our ability to move the school forward, but I am not willing, nor should you be, to allow budget cuts to derail our progress.

The challenge of budget cuts is not new to the law school. During the early 1990s, the school turned to its alumni and friends for help in meeting the shortfalls caused by state budget reductions. It is only natural that we turn once more to our loyal alumni and friends for assistance in weathering the current-day budget cuts.

To those of you who have financially supported the law school over the years, my heartfelt thanks. If you have not yet stepped forward to help with a gift, now is the time to do so. Please join the ranks of the 2,238 alumni and friends listed in this publication who are committed to the advancement of the University of Georgia School of Law.

I invite you to contact me should you wish to discuss the law school’s needs or your contribution. I may be reached at (706) 542-7140 or at rhwhite@uga.edu.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Hanner White
Interim Dean and J. Alton Hosch Professor of Law
