A Message to Alumni

From the Law School Association

I am honored to serve as president of the Law School Association this year. I have many fond memories of my days as a law student and am proud to be an alumna of the School of Law. Our dean, administrators, faculty and students are among the finest in the country, and we can all be proud of them.

You can help the law school protect its proud heritage and enhance its growing reputation by contributing to the Law School Fund. A law school's reputation is based in large part on its students and alumni. The vast majority of the funds (64%) our alumni contribute to the Law School Fund go to scholarships for students. These scholarships enable us to continue attracting the best and brightest law students to Athens.

As you know, state budgets and appropriations have been adversely affected by the economic slowdown over the past couple of years. Thanks to your generosity, the Law School Fund received its highest level of contributions last year. However, we need your help again if the School of Law is to maintain its position as a leading legal institution.

For those who have contributed to the Law School Fund in past years, please continue to be generous with your support. If you have postponed making a contribution in previous years, please make this the year you lend a helping hand. In the spring, the Law School Association will host a black-tie gala to recognize those alumni and friends who contribute at the Joseph Henry Lumpkin Society level ($1,000 per year or higher) this fiscal year.

I hope you will join us at the law school's functions being held in conjunction with the State Bar of Georgia's Midyear Meeting in Atlanta. We will have an alumni cocktail reception on the evening of Thursday, January 9, 2003, and an alumni breakfast on Friday, January 10. Please mark your calendars and plan to attend.

Included with this message is the Honor Roll of Donors to the Law School Fund for the 2001-02 fiscal year. Thank you, in advance, for joining your fellow alumni in contributing to this current year's fund.

Paul Painter, Jr.  (J.D. 74)
Law School Association President

TOTAL: $1,568,146.29
By way of introduction, I am the new director of development at the University of Georgia School of Law. My background includes 14 years of experience in development at Florida State University in Tallahassee and Georgia Southwestern State University in Americus. Prior to entering the development area, I worked in student affairs at Texas Christian University and Iowa State University.

Although my first day on the job coincided with the first day of classes for the fall semester, I am already impressed by the quality of students, faculty and staff here at the University of Georgia School of Law. Obviously, many of you have contributed to this level of excellence through your resources, both time and money. Your contributions, regardless of the size, are greatly appreciated and greatly needed.

In the current economic environment, we must all continue to provide support for scholarships, endowments, programs, etc., in order to maintain our current standing among our peer institutions. With this in mind, I would like to encourage you to support your law school by joining the Joseph Henry Lampkin Society (annual donors of $1,000 or more) and help us exceed the 25 percent membership increase we experienced in 2001-02. I look forward to meeting many of you during the coming year and working with you to ensure that our current and future students have ever increasing opportunities for success.

Ron Hill
Director of Development

This past fiscal year was an outstanding year - one that included a significant increase in support by our alumni and friends for our annual operating fund. As a result, we were able to provide more scholarships and better services for our outstanding student body. In order to continually improve the quality of the educational experience we provide, we need your annual support. Seventy percent of your annual fund contribution is spent directly on our students of which over 91 percent is spent on scholarships alone.

Over the past two years, the University of Georgia School of Law has experienced an 8.0 percent reduction in its state operating budget. In addition, due to the downturn in the economy and the spending guidelines protecting the law school's endowments, less money is available for many of our valued programs and scholarships. This is forcing the school to rely on its private annual funding sources, you and your fellow School of Law supporters, more heavily. Approximately $686,000 in annual support is needed for the 2002-03 academic year to maintain our programs and services at a level of which you would be proud. With your help, and support from other alumni and friends, we will meet, and hopefully exceed, this challenge.

I hope your belief in this institution will fuel your desire to keep the School of Law high on your list of philanthropic priorities.

Phyllis Cooke
Director of Annual Giving
The School of Law is pleased to honor its annual contributors of $1,000 or more with membership in the Joseph Henry Lumpkin Society and greatly appreciates the commitment of these individuals to the continuous advancement of the quality of the law school. Lumpkin Society membership reached a new high in 2001-02 with 216 generous alumni and friends of the School of Law making gifts of $1,000 or more.

Joseph Henry Lumpkin founded the University of Georgia School of Law in 1859, in collaboration with his son-in-law, Thomas R.R. Cobb, and colleague, William Hope Hull. Classes were first taught in Lumpkin's law office at the corner of Prince Avenue and Pulaski Street in downtown Athens at what was then the Lumpkin Law School.

Lumpkin, born in Oglethorpe County in 1796, was a distinguished lawyer and statesman and a major figure in Georgia public affairs. He graduated from Princeton in 1819, then "read law" under the tutelage of a practicing attorney, as was the custom of the day. Lumpkin was admitted to the Georgia bar in 1820. In 1824, he was elected to a two-year term in the Georgia legislature and, in 1833, he helped frame the state penal code. In 1845, Lumpkin became the first chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, where he served continuously until his death in 1867.

You can join the Lumpkin Society and help sustain excellence at your law school by making a gift of $1,000 or more to the School of Law by June 30, 2005. Please encourage several of your classmates and colleagues to follow your lead so the Lumpkin Society membership can reach new heights again this year.

Law School Fund Budget 2002-03

Each year, the University of Georgia School of Law relies on annual contributions from its alumni and friends to provide essential operating dollars. Approximately, $650,000 is needed for the 2002-03 academic year. We are currently trying to raise this amount and need your assistance.

For the 2002-03 academic year, the majority of your contribution (70%) will be spent directly on law school students, particularly scholarships.

IS YOUR NAME MISSING?

Listed in this 2001-02 Annual Donor Report are gifts to the University of Georgia School of Law which were processed through the University of Georgia Foundation between July 1, 2001–June 30, 2002. If your name is not included and you think it should be or if it is included but not at the level you believe to be appropriate, there may be several reasons why:

1. You made your gift either before July 1, 2001, or after June 30, 2002.
2. You gave more during this time period than you realize. Please check the next giving level for your name.
3. You made a pledge instead of an outright gift. This listing includes only gifts received. If you made a pledge during this time period but elected not to begin paying it until after June 30, 2002, your name will not be listed.
4. You made a gift to the University of Georgia or the University of Georgia Foundation but your transaction was not designated for the law school.
5. We omitted your name in error. If we have made a mistake, we would like to hear from you.

*Fulfilled Legacy 2002 pledge before June 30, 2002

University of Georgia Partners, initiated three ago by President Michael F. Adams, recognizes the university's need for both restricted and unrestricted gifts. Listed below are the names of the January 1, 2001 - June 30, 2002 University Partners who designated some part of their total giving to the School of Law. The law school community appreciates the commitment to building a better University of Georgia and School of Law demonstrated by these generous donors.

Membership in University Partners requires an annual gift of $2,500 or more, with a minimum of $1,000 designated to the President's Venture Fund. This fund allows Dr. Adams to meet challenges or seize opportunities for innovation as they arise on campus. The remainder of the gift may be designated to the School of Law or to any particular academic area, program or affiliated unit. University Partners will be recognized as members of the Joseph Henry Lumpkin Society if $1,000 or more is given to the School of Law. Partners will also receive special invitations to exclusive events, including the annual black-tie partners gala, which is held in Atlanta.

The University of Georgia School of Law offers an excellent legal education to its outstanding students. We recruited the most academically superior class in the history of the school this fall. The Class of 2005 has a median LSAT of 163 and a median undergraduate GPA of 3.65. It is vital that we continue to recruit and admit students of this caliber in the future.

We have enhanced our faculty by hiring one of the premier international authorities on global climate control, Daniel M. Bodansky, for the school's Ernest and Emily Woodruff Chair in International Law. We also hired Lonnie T. Brown, Jr., to teach civil procedure and legal profession. We will be hiring the inaugural holder of the Carl E. Sanders Chair in Political Leadership in the near future.

The school received a much needed technology facelift over the summer. The law school is now wireless for Internet access and includes five fully remodeled classrooms. The Alexander Campbell King Law Library now benefits from a state-of-the-art security system to protect its holdings and utilizes a new online cataloging system to manage its resources. More improvements to the school's facilities are needed to enhance teaching, research and learning for students and faculty.

The school has expanded its curriculum to include new joint degree programs with the College of Education and the School of Public and International Affairs. We are exploring a new “Smart Growth” clinic with the College of the Environment and hope to add depth to our course offerings in the areas of intellectual property, health care, and land use and environmental policy.

These improvements strengthen the law school's position as one of the top public law schools in the Southeast. However, the state has imposed several budget cuts on the university because of the nation's economic downturn. Over the past two years, the law school has reduced its operating budget by 8.0 percent. These reductions are taking their toll on the service we provide students, faculty and alumni as well as the bench, bar and university.

This past year, we were fortunate to have received increased financial support from you, our alumni and friends. This enabled us to continue providing an outstanding legal education while withstanding financial pressures felt by the tightening of our budget. This is why we are calling on you again to support your alma mater. Your contributions this year are perhaps more important than ever. By contributing to your law school, you add to the value of your education as well as to the stature of your school. The University of Georgia School of Law is recognized as one of the premier public law schools in the nation and its reputation reflects on you. I ask you to invest in one of the nation's best law schools!
